Chapter 1: The plan

Russian Lieutenant General Khudovekov Korney Yevgenievich(We'll call him Korney) stood before the Russian President, Vladimir Putin. He had a plan.

For a very long time now, Putin wanted to re-create the Russian Empire. This Lieutenant General had a plan to create not only a new Russian Empire, but an even bigger and wealthier one. One that ruled Scandinavia, Poland, most importantly, Germany the biggest economy in Europe . But also one that will Japan, and more of Asia . And maybe even a part of Africa .

Korney was not a very major Lieutenant General At the time. However , Putin liked his plan so, he decided to use it . Even though he would be fighting all of NATO , they would strike first, and, as they thought, a much more powerful military.

This, will be the death of them. Just as their decision to attack NATO will. Their enormous arrogance come up will be something they will deeply regret .

But, they decide to use the plan. It must be a success, shouldn't it? At least, at the time it seemed invincible. How could it fail?

KORNEY'S PLAN

The initial Russian plan is to 1st attacked Finland North of their capital. They sent some truth South to take southern Finland . When they occupy Finland, they go through Sweden and keep on guard of Norway . Eventually they will occupy that too. I'm getting ready to make dinner then, when they reached Denmark, they take it, and go through to Germany. Once they take Finland Kaliningrad will start mobilizing as when it's ready, will go through Poland and then to Germany . When the Scandinavian army gets to Denmark, Novaya zemlya will send troops to check the British Isles and France and Spain . Belarus will attack Ukraine from the North , and Russia will attack from the South through the Black Sea . After victory (/ a secure answer, but they didn't want to admit that) they will attack Japan, and Iran will attack India and Iraq. If the plan succeeds, then they shall control most of Europe, Japan, have basically a walkway to Africa, and Cuba will have started attacking the US.

Chapter 2: A story of Poland

Polish field Marshall Kwiatśław Burek head ahead and charge of the Polish army to Kaliningrad intake. They were now at war with Russia, China, Cuba, Iran, and yellow rush now. But they were going to win. He knew it. He was right of course. NATO was much more powerful than the Eastern Powers. Country-wise, NATO outnumbered them 29-5.

Field marshal Burek was the most experienced person in the Polish military, 47 ½ years. Only two weeks ago was his 68th Birthday, and he was as confident as ever.

And for good reason. They had recently acquired the most powerful Tank in Continental Europe. The Nop-0909G. With a top speed of 104 mph, Titanium armor, and can shoot ammunition up to four miles away!!!! Plus, it's the most comfortable, has much better lighting on the inside, can store food and supplies for the whole crew for up to two weeks!

This has to give them an advantage! He was right again. But, don't think he's arrogant, no, far from it. He may brag to himself a little, but he knows the dangers of being arrogant.

One of the field marshals favorite officers, Captain Świętosława Konop kept a diary while leading the head on charge towards Kaliningrad.
